Archana,

First, thank you, thank you, thank you for being my coach this past year!

I have had coaches before, as most independent business owners do, although those coaches seem to focus primarily on the business side of a person's life.

You are different! You see a person, as a whole person, not just the business person, a person who is also a Mom, wife, sister, or friend. You coach the whole person, since you so logically put it, we are whole people!

You empowered me to make decisions, love myself, take action, set goals, work my goals, have compassion for people, and best of all, understand myself, so I could get out of my own way!

You are enlightened, intuitive, and invested in my happiness your guidance has been invaluable.

I have always encouraged my peers to get into coaching, although now I am more specific in telling them to consider what they will get with different types of coaching. I tell them that they will want to consider all the aspects of their lives, and not stop at just their business side, and of course, I tell them about Life, Balance, Power, which to me, says it all.

Thank you, Archana, I am forever grateful.

All the best,

Susan Fraley
